

HATS OFF TO THE LADIES

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

New Hampshire soldiers like those of Kentucky did not get to vote.

Ollie James is already being boomed as senate leader.

Editor W. Owen McIntyre has been elected mayor of Danville, Ky.

The city of Murray passed a bond issue for street improvements.

The vote in Illinois ran up to 1,755,000, of whom 650,000 were women.

Gov. C. H. Brough, of Arkansas, is a son-in-law of Hon. G. W. Roark, of Franklin, Ky.

A lady in Denver wired a lady here, "The Golden West sends greetings to the Sunny South."

In some cities the railroad men had for their slogan, "Eight hours for us, 8 years for Wilson."

Michigan, Montana, South Dakota, Utah and Nebraska all voted dry. Eighteen states are already dry.

A Sleeper was elected Governor of Michigan but the rest of the country seems to have been wide awake.

Sampson, Republican, defeated Roberson, Democrat, for Judge of the Court of Appeals in the Eastern Kentucky district.

Owensboro voted to adopt commission form of government after Jan. 1, 1918. Daviess county also will adopt the same form of county government.

There was an awful close finish in 1884 when Cleveland won out by 1,000 votes in New York after days of suspense. Then as now the Republicans claimed the earth.

There are 2,300 Minnesota soldiers on the border, two-thirds of whom are reported as for Wilson. These votes to be sent in may hold the balance of power in that state.

Some states allow their soldiers to vote wherever they are and the total on the border was 4,266 for Hughes and 3,611 for Wilson, not including Virginia and New York, sent home to be counted.

A. Stream, a Democratic elector in Washington, died just before the election and the name of E. M. Connor was not substituted in all the counties. This may let one Republican elector in.

Washington gave Wilson 11,000 and Poindexter, Republican, for Senator 55,000 majority. Kansas gave Wilson 27,000 and Capper, Republican, for Governor, 100,000 majority. Republicans as well as Progressives voted for Wilson.

BOOSTERS THURSDAY.

Once more a change has been made in the time for the contemplated booster trip to Princeton Tuesday was found too close to the election and the date is now Thursday Nov. 16th.

BOND HELD OVER.

The trial of Dock Bond, who cut unstable Tom Winfree with a corn knife two weeks ago, was held before Esq. Morris yesterday and Bond held over under a bond of $750.

SISTER LIVES HERE.

Walter Stodgill, a brother of Mrs. P. Vickers, of this city, was accidentally killed in a mine at Madison yesterday.

OREGON AND MINNESOTA DOUBTFUL

Even New Hampshire Slips Out of Hughes' Grasp With 121 For Wilson---West Va. Not Yet Conceded---Beat Us In Indiana With Our Own Negroes.

New York, Nov. 10.—President Wilson has carried California and has been re-elected.

Fifty hours after the polls closed in California, Republican Chairman Rowell conceded the state to the president. Thus the thirteen votes needed to assure the president a majority in the electoral college dropped into the democratic column and apparently ended the suspense and anxiety of an election which has been unparalleled in American political history.

Republican Chairman Wilcox when informed that the president had carried California only replied: "I have nothing to say."

Secretary Tumulty, at the summer white house at Shadow Lawn, sent the news by wireless to President Wilson on board the yacht Mayflower enroute to Rhinecliff, N. Y.

The California returns showed that with only 48 districts missing the president's plurality in the state was 2,970.

Barring some wholly unexpected turnover in the incomplete states leaning toward Wilson or a change on a recount, California's acquisition to the democratic column, make 269 electoral votes without New Mexico's three. In New Mexico at midnight the president was leading by 2,634 votes with 158 districts missing and it was not believed this advantage could be overcome by Mr. Hughes. Conceding West Virginia, Oregon and Minnesota to Mr. Hughes—and he was in the lead in all three—only gives him 255 votes, 11 less than the required majority. With 172 votes in sight President Wilson had six to spare for a possible split of electors in California or a sudden reversal in New Mexico.

PLANS TO GET RECOUNT.

At republican national committee headquarters, it was admitted that after conferences between George W. Wickersham, former attorney general of the United States, Everett Cady, of New Jersey, Mr. Hughes, Chairman Wilcox and George W. Perkins, of New York, preparations were being made to begin legal proceedings for recounts in states where the results were close.

Chairman Wilson included California, New Mexico, North Dakota, New Hampshire and Minnesota as states where recounts would undoubtedly be demanded.

Democratic headquarters was not behind the republicans in preparation for legal developments. Chairman McCormick conferred with Alton B. Parker, former democratic candidate for president; Morgan J. O'Brien,

SATURDAY, NOV. 11

And then it rained.

Wilson won by a close shave, but he won.

That was quite a successful drive
made on the Western front.

Whoever turned that California trick ought to have a cabinet position.

Argentina has also had an election for President in which Dr. Hipolite Irigoyen won.

A man at South Bend, Ind., is to undergo a surgical operation to correct his criminal tendencies.

Nebraska went dry by 20,000, but Missouri remains wet by the aid of the big wet majority in St. Louis.

Denton, Democrat, was elected Congressman in the Evansville district by the narrow margin of 316 votes.

We are glad it was a bright day and the ladies out west could vote without getting their hats wet.

Who would have thought that Kansas and Nebraska would give bigger Democratic majorities than Kentucky and Tennessee?

Thomas Van Lear, an Independent, endorsed by the Socialists, won for Mayor of Minneapolis by 3,000 majority.

Some of the Baptists hated to vote against Bro. Hughes, but it will not do to mix church and state, and a patriotic duty was well performed.

New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New England have lived to see a President elected without their help. Now let the money bags be good.

Little Delaware did the best she could under the drippings of the New York upas tree. She beat DuPont for Senator by 2,000 and held Hughes down to 800 majority.

An old man in Baltimore has developed a new pink rose valued at $15,000, for which he wants a name.
Let's call it the "Suffragette" and pin
it on those ladies who elected Wilson.

Undertakers in session at New York voted to advance prices of funeral goods, caskets, shrouds, crepe, etc., some of them 50 per cent.
More tough luck for the late Republican party.

John K. Hendrick, Wyoming's new Democratic Senator, bears a name that sounds good to Kentucky Democrats. They have one of their own who is big enough to occupy the same kind of a seat.

The Deutschland's cargo of chemicals, dyestuffs, drugs, jewelry stocks jewelry stocks and bonds valued at $10,000,000 was safely delivered.
During the trip of 4,500 miles the Deutschland traversed under water less than 100 miles.

"Count" A. M. Henry, of Newstead, ratified all by himself Wednesday night. Somebody telephoned him that the Democrats were blowing whistles and parading with cowbells in the city and he seated himself on his front porch with a double-barrel shotgun and fired a whole box of shells.

TRAITS OF ANIMAL CREATION

Even the Most Famous Naturalists
Have Been Unable to Explain Satisfactorily.

There are a great many strange facts about animals and insects that seem to defy explanation. Here are a few, an exchange says:
A fly will crawl to the top of a window pane, fly back to the bottom and crawl up again. Hardly ever does it fly up and crawl down. It has been known to repeat this former act over thirty times before stopping.

It is always scratch for food with the sun behind them. A blind hen always manages to get the sun behind her when scratching, and she will miss but few bits of food.

Cats hardly ever lie with their feet to the fire. In most cases they lie instead with their left side to it. Dogs invariably lie with outstretched paws to the fire.

A mouse overlooks a perfectly safe food supply, sufficient for a meal or two, to enjoy the perilous pleasures of an unlimited store. It will hide near the food and come out to nibble when hungry, for it is not true that a mouse will seek its hole at the first alarm.

If a small snake is kept in captivity and fed and cared for, it will become tame, and after a few months crawl to its captor for food, when approached.
This is true especially of the small and harmless varieties.

The unerring ability of the homing pigeon to find its former abode is not due to a sense of location, but rather to a natural instinct, which cats and dogs have displayed when taken from their homes.

GLORIOUS BOON OF LAUGHTER

Gift That Has Been Given to Man Is Not Shared by Beast, Fish or Reptile.

In a recent number of London Opinion the sage, James Douglas, speculating on that pleasurable emotion which is accompanied by face cracking movements of the muscles of the physiognomy and a brightness of the eyes and is known as laughter, describes the phenomenon as "the human miracle," and says "No bird or beast or fish or reptile can laugh. You can teach an ape to do almost anything, but you cannot teach him to laugh. The awful solemnity of animals is the one really intolerable thing on this earth. They are cut off from the abiding miracle of humor. The worst consequence of the war is its tragic solemnity. It starves us of laughter, which is the food of the gods. . . . A wise man has warned us to interrogate ourselves when we laugh. I totally and entirely repudiate that diabolical doctrine. Never in-terrogate yourself when you laugh.
You should never look a laugh in the mouth. There are many kinds of laughter, but they are all good. Interrogate yourself. If you like, when you weep. But if you value the well being of your soul, never interrogate yourself when you laugh. Laughter is a good in itself, and an end by itself. The quality of laughter, like the quality of mercy, ought never to be strained. Laugh before you look!"

Special From Gehenna.

The devils were holding a council of war to devise ways and means of inflicting extra special tortures upon poor human beings.

"I know a writer chap," said the first devil, "who has a gift, a pre-eminent gift, for comedy. I will plague him with the false notion that he was born to scale the loftiest heights of tragedy."

"And I," said the second devil—"I know a painter with a true genius for his art. I will put into his head while he is asleep the notion that in his preoccupation with paint and canvas the world is getting cheated of a great musician."

"And I," said the third devil—"I mind me of a chap—a full-blooded, not too refined sort of fellow—that cannot be happy without wine, woman, and song to cheer his days. I'll poison his life with moral scruples. I'll torture him with the fixed idea that he ought to have been a minister of the gospel and an evangelist to the heathen."

Economical.

Economy was the text of Mr. Jones' discourse one evening after he had been settling some household bills, while Mrs. Jones listened with true wifely interest.

"I don't want to make you unhappy, darling," finished the husband, "but really we must be a bit more careful in future. For instance, look at the bill for petrol. That motor car is costing us rather too much for the time being."

"Yes, Henry, dear," agreed Mrs.
Jones. "I'm afraid it is."

Then her sweet young face brightened as she went on:
"But just think what it saves us in car fares and hoot leather!"

Out of the Abundant Caution.

An elderly gentleman from the country was at the head of a line of arrivals at a New York hotel, and, after signifying his acceptance of the rate offered him, was invited to sign the register. He consumed such an unconscionable amount of time in this that the clerk became impatient.

"Just sign your name, please,"
snapped the clerk. "The other guests, too, would like to register."

"See here, young man," exclaimed the old gentleman, "don't you try to burry me. I don't never sign nothing
I ain't read carefully."

Dread Of An Operation.

N. Manchester, Ind.—Mrs. Eva Bashore, of this place, says: "I suffered female misery of every description. Two doctors attended me, and advised an operation. I lost weight until I weighed only ninety pounds. I dreaded an operation, and, instead, began to take arbutin. In a short time, I gained 25 pounds, and feel as well as I ever did. Cardui, I am sure, saved my life." Cardui is today used in thousands of homes, where it relieves pain and brings back strength and ambition. It is a woman's medicine, for woman's ailments, and you are urged to try it for your troubles.
Ask your druggist. He will tell you about Cardui.—Advertiser met.

RHUBARB SEASON IS HERE

Two Excellent Methods of Preparing This Most Healthful of All the Summer Vegetables.

If rhubarb is rightly cooked it is as clean and bright and purifying as spring sunshine. And since it is about 95 per cent water, the cooking is hardly more than the heating of water—yet how poor, stringy, and unpalatable
it sometimes is as some people cook it.

If we want our rhubarb shredded to the last thread we have but to wash, peel and cut it into small bits and add to it about half a cupful of boiling water to two cupfuls. In five minutes, over just enough fire to boil it, or a few minutes more, it is completely dissolved into shreds. If we want it to have undiluted virtue we may steam it in a double boiler for half an hour or until its great amount of water is heated out. If we want it sirupy we can cook it for five minutes or until tender in a sirup.

Stewed Rhubarb.—Wash, peel and cut up rhubarb and put it in an enamel ware double boiler and cook until tender. Put in sugar to taste, and let it melt down through it before removing from fire. Every piece will retain its shape if the whole is not stirred, but if it is to be eaten as a hot soup at luncheon, without crackers or bread, to be followed by an egg dish, whisk or heat it into shreds with a silver fork. It is a good tonic, all nature distilled and flavored water,
uncontaminated except by the sugar.

Rhubarb in Sirup.—Add one cupful of cold water to one cupful of sugar and stir over fire until sugar dissolves.
Let cook five minutes. Add four cupfuls rhubarb and simmer. Each piece will retain shape, but will lose color.
For a change, flavor with a teaspoonful of vanilla if you like it that way.
Serve at end of meal "en compote,"
without cake or bread.

Judge—Are you personally acquainted with the prosecutor in this case?

Witness—Yes, sir.

Judge—What can you say as to his reputation for veracity?

Witness—Well, your honor, he was once a life insurance agent,
and—

Judge—That will do. Case dismissed.

Naval Experts Illustrate Psychology
of War Communiques by Story of the Boy and the Whale.

Naval Constructor Emery S. Land,
the submarine expert, was talking in Washington about the psychology of war communiques.

"When governments issue false communiques—and governments at war are often convicted of doing so—I suppose their theory is that, if you keep on saying a thing firmly enough, everybody will believe it.

"It's like the story of the boy on the steamboat excursion.

"A boy boarded an excursion steamer after she had got filled up.
There were no seats vacant. Every bench and camp-chair was occupied.

"The boy then devised a trick.
"Seen the whale?" he began to ask the excursionists near him. "They've got a young whale tied to the pier on the other side, and he's cavorting" around with his tail like anything."

"Nobody believed the boy at first.
His whale story was laughed at. But he kept on repeating it. Up and down he strode, urging everyone to go and look at the struggling whale on the other side of the boat, and gradually, one by one, the passengers began to think he must be speaking the truth, and got up and crossed over.

"The boy secured a seat. Soon he could have secured a dozen, two dozen, a hundred seats. For the whale story had at last got in its work.
Everybody had hurried off so as not to miss the whale. The boy in the end was left absolutely alone.

"He sat alone for some time. He began to fume and wriggle and fret.
Finally he hopped up, and he, too,
rushed to the other side of the boat, muttering: 'By gosh, maybe there is a whale there, after all!'"

FAITH AND WORKS

Earlie—What would you do if you was out in the deep water and a great big shark was comin' right at you?
Willie—I'd do a short prayer and then I'd swim like the old scatch.

NO TWILIGHT SLEEP.

At a dinner one night recently Irving S. Cobb, the humorist, told a story which has to do with a prominent theatrical enterprise. According to Cobb, the press agent of that picture was endeavoring to obtain testimonials from prominent citizens of Savannah, Ga. In this enterprise he approached Mrs. James Gordon, widow of General Gordon, who led one of the notable Confederate charges in the battle of Gettysburg.
"I really haven't seen the picture," replied Mrs. Gordon, "but my friends who have tell me that it is great.
Also they say that it deals chiefly with the Civil war and is called 'The Birth of a Nation.' Now I lived through those four years of the Civil war, and if that was the birth of a nation, it certainly wasn't any twilight sleep."

PREPAREDNESS FOR THE WORST.

"Are you in favor of preparedness?"

"Not when it takes the form of a perpetual state of resignation to whatever may happen."

Big Fish—No, he is still using it and gentle whispers."

ELUSIVE.

"So they say. What a pity they

Delaney Nicoll and John B. Stanchfield, New York lawyers.

It was evident that if the election was to be taken into the courts the legal rights of both parties were being marshaled for such a battle royal as the United States never has seen.

DEMOCRATS CLAIM 277

In an official statement the democratic national committee claimed 277 votes for President Wilson and a popular plurality of from 200,000 to 300,000.

"To say there will be any contests," declared the statement, "is an insult to the intelligence of the American people."

It probably will still be another day before the full results are known from any of the four states left in the doubtful column and certainly not until there has been an official count in New Hampshire and possibly in Minnesota. As Mr. Hughes is leading in Minnesota and West Virginia and a change in these states could in no wise affect the result, there may be no demand for extraordinary haste to bring about the recount demanded.

DECLINES TO COMMENT

New York, Nov. 10.—Word that California had been carried by Wilson on the face of nearly complete unofficial returns was carried to Mr. Hughes shortly after he retired last night. He declined to comment on the situation. After communicating with national headquarters, members of Mr. Hughes' staff said that the question of a recount would be considered tomorrow.

TUMULTU SHOUTS WITH JOY

Asbury Park, N. J., Nov. 10.—Secretary Tumulty waited for the flash from the Associated Press that President Wilson had carried California. When it came, a shout of joy went up inside the executive offices and Secretary Tumulty who had told the president he would not congratulate him until the definite news was known, sent a wireless message to the Mayflower giving his congratulations.

CALIFORNIA

Complete returns from 5,839 precincts out of 5,870 in California, give Hughes 462,361; Wilson 465,348 Wilson's plurality 3,150.

Except in the event of some exceptional happening, President Wilson has carried California.

This is conceded by Republican Chairman Rowell. Mr. Rowell conceded the state after reviewing returns showing a plurality of 2,970 for Wilson with only 48 scattered precincts of the state incomplete.

Because of the closeness of the contest between President Wilson and Charles E. Hughes in California, it was predicted this afternoon by Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan, that there is likely to be a split in the electoral vote of the two parties. Jordan said he was so sure that some of both the republican and democratic electors will be chosen that he has already decided to ask both parties to delegate representatives to be present when the official count is made.

In 1912 two democratic electors were chosen in California along with republicans.

INDIANA

With only 139 scattered precincts out of 3,143 in Indiana not reported, Charles E. Hughes was leading President Wilson by more than 6,500. It was generally believed that the president would be unable to overcome the republican nominee's margin. The vote 320,191 for Wilson and 327,763 for Hughes was said to be one of the largest ever cast in the state.

OREGON CLOSE

Democratic leaders at national and state headquarters decline to concede Oregon to Hughes. The vote is heavy and in precincts thus far returned Wilson and Hughes are running neck and neck.

Betting on the result in the state is very heavy. Wednesday night the odds favored Hughes 10 to 8, but this morning many large bets were made on Wilson. An even bet of $5,000 was recorded at the Hotel Mulholland at noon, a Portland merchant taking the Wilson end while a big timber man backed Hughes.

WEST VIRGINIA

Charles E. Hughes, Republican nominee for the presidency, is leading President Wilson in the contest for the presidency in West Virginia by 2,600 votes, with 73 precincts to be heard from, the total vote being, Hughes 133,280, Wilson 130,831.

If Charles E. Hughes carries West

Virginia he may have only seven electoral votes instead of the eight with which the state is credited. This development today when it became known that officials in a number of counties had neglected to place the name of S. A. Scott on the ticket as candidate for elector. Scott was named by the republican state committee, when J. W. Dawson, who had been nominated by the state republican convention, resigned from the ticket.

NEW HAMPSHIRE

With two precincts missing the count in New Hampshire gave Wilson a lead of 121. This was based on certified returns to the secretary of state from 238 precincts and press returns from 54; the vote was Wilson 43,842; Hughes 43,721.

The republicans have demanded a recount. According to the usual legal procedure this count would not be begun for fifteen days, but it was said tonight that some other way might be found to expedite it.

Meantime neither the republicans nor democrats will admit defeat.

NEW MEXICO

Returns from 560 of 638 precincts in New Mexico give Hughes 31,054; Wilson, 33,215. Twenty-three precincts in Socorro county not previously represented, reduced Wilson's lead to 1,961.

Less than 5,000 votes are yet to be counted and there is every probability that Wilson's majority will be increased rather than decreased.

WASHINGTON

In 2,753 precincts out of 3,385, Hughes has 144,621; Wilson 136,144. Wilson's lead, 11,523; precincts out, 311.

MINNESOTA VERY CLOSE

Errors in the transmission of returns from several precincts in Minnesota discovered last night, change the standing somewhat in the presidential contest. In 2,939 precincts out of 3,024 in the state, the corrected figures give Hughes 176,54; Wilson 175,511.

With 75 precincts missing Hughes is holding a narrow lead of 1,017.

It is claimed that in the missing precincts Wilson sentiment is strong. Either side will win by a very narrow margin and it is likely that the soldier vote will determine the result.

KANSAS

Additional returns continued to increase President Wilson's plurality over Charles E. Hughes which probably will be more than 25,000. Arthur Capper, republican, was re-elected by more than 100,000 over W. C. Lansdon, democrat, along with an entire state ticket. The Kansas delegation in congress shows a gain of one republican and will be made up of five democrats and 3 republicans.

IDAHO

Returns from 552 precincts out of 743 in Idaho give Wilson 59,467; Hughes 46,205. Wilson's lead is 13,262.

NORTH DAKOTA

William Lemke, chairman of the republican state central committee, late today conceded that President Wilson had carried North Dakota, but that his lead over Hughes would not exceed 500 votes. 1,831 precincts out of 1,859 in the state, reported on give Wilson 54,449; Hughes 52,831.

Kentucky Goes 27,000

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 10.—Kentucky went democratic Tuesday by the largest majority ever given a presidential candidate and equaled only in recent years by the record majority of Gov. J. B. McCreary in 1911. Figures received show that President Wilson carried the state by 27,015 majority over Charles E. Hughes, with a few scattering precincts still out which cannot change the result by 500 votes.

CONGRESSIONAL WILL RATIFY VICTORY ON NOV. 13TH

Of Districts Heard From 211
Elect Rep. Con. 215 Dem.

Four Scattering.

DEMOCRATS HOLD SENATE

Upper House Safely on President's Side With 54 Democrats and 42 Republicans.

New York, Nov. 10.—With four congressional districts to be heard from, 211 republicans, 215 democrats, two progressives, one independent and one socialist have been elected to the house of representatives for the Sixty-fifth congress. Of the four districts yet to be heard from, all are represented in the present congress by democrats.

Four districts in West Virginia, two of them normally democratic and two republican, and one district in New Mexico, are still undecided. If these districts do not change the democrats will have 217 and the republicans 214, a plurality of only three. As there will be four members of other minor parties, a working majority for the democrats is improbable unless some of the minority members should choose to cast their lot with the administration forces.

SENATORIAL RESULTS

In the senate four present democratic members according to the latest indications, have been defeated. They are Senators Kern and Taggart, of Indiana, Martine, of New Jersey and Chilton, of West Virginia. Three republican Senators, Lippitt, of Rhode Island, Clark of Wyoming and Sutherland of Utah, also have lost their seats on the basis of the returns.

Clark of Wyoming and Sutherland of Utah, have also lost their seats on the basis of the returns.

The defeat of Senator Kern of Indiana by Harry S. New, former chairman of the Republican National Committee, takes from the democratic organization its floor leader.

Among the democratic senators mentioned for the succession are Saulsbury of Delaware, Martin of Virginia, Walsh of Montana, and Underwood of Alabama.

Health for Sick Women

For Forty Years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Been Woman's Most Reliable Medicine—Here is More Proof.

To women who are suffering from some form of woman's special ills, and have a constant fear of breaking down, the three following letters ought to bring hope:—

North Crandon, Wis.—"When I was 16 years old I got married and at 18 years I gave birth to twins and it left me with very poor health. I could not walk across the floor without having to sit down to rest and it was hard for me to keep about and do my work. I went to a doctor and he told me I had a displacement and ulcers, and would have to have an operation. This frightened me so much that I did not know what to do. Having heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I thought I would give it a trial and it made me as well as ever. I cannot say enough in favor of the Pinkham remedies."—Mrs. MATHE ASBACH, North Crandon, Wis.

Testimony from Oklahoma

Lawton, Okla.—"When I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I seemed to be good for nothing. I tired easily and had headaches much of the time and was irregular. I took it again before my little child was born and it did me a wonderful amount of good at that time. I never fail to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to ailing women because it has done so much for me."—Mrs. A. L. McCASLAND, 509 Have St., Lawton, Okla.

From a Grateful Massachusetts Woman

Roxbury, Mass.—"I was suffering from inflammation and was examined by a physician who found that my trouble was caused by a displacement. My symptoms were bearing down pains, backache, and sluggish liver. I tried several kinds of medicine; then I was asked to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has cured me and I am pleased to be in my usual good health by using it and highly recommend it."—Mrs. B. M. Oswood, 1 Haynes Park, Roxbury, Mass.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

tist Here For Nearly 14 Years.

Dr. Isaac Feirstein, for fourteen years a dentist in this city and a young man who has a very large circle of friends in the city, will leave tonight for Louisville, having sold out his business here. Dr. Feirstein was born in Louisville and began the practice of his profession there in the Louisville Dental Parlors in 1902 and came to Hopkinsville in 1903. He has been very successful here and has always enjoyed a generous and lucrative patronage.

Dr. Feirstein's departure from the city is a source of regret to his hosts of friends. He will go from here to Louisville to spend the winter with his relatives there and has his eye on Lexington as a location in the spring. Wherever he may go, the people here who know him best will commend him as a fine dentist and a young man worthy of confidence and support.

FOREST FIRES ARE STOPPED

By the Timely Rain Which Began Early Thursday Morning.

The forest fires raging in the vicinity of Mannington were not checked until the rain fell Thursday morning. The territory burned over was nearly five square miles of woods and fields, on both sides of the L. & N. railroad. The supposition is that the fire was started by sparks from a passing train, several days ago.

An unoccupied house owned by D. A. Wilbert was burned Wednesday. The schoolhouse near Mannington, where John Keith is the teacher, was endangered, and his wife started on horseback to summon help to fight the flames and was thrown by her horse and painfully hurt.

The rain came just in the nick of time to stop the flames from reaching a more thickly settled section.

JUST A FEW WORDS FOR DAD

One Writer Who Believes the "Old Man" Has Not Been Given All He Is Entitled To.

Dad is rarely the object of sympathy. The poets pass him over as all things least poetical. The song writers indite no sob melodies to immortalize him, but reserve him for rollicking ditties in which he figures as a failure or a freak. Even in the best-regulated families, where there is no thought either of discourtesy or unappreciation, what father wants or does or says is alluded to half apologetically, as if to suggest that not much could be expected from such a source. If one were so minded it would be possible to extend this survey of dad indefinitely along these lines, but there is another picture of him equally true to life and more inspiring to contemplate. It is one too seldom limned, if not too lightly appraised.

The common or garden variety of dad, no matter what his circumstances, represents much that is admirable. As a rule he is self-sacrifice sublimated. The father who is worth while, which is the kind we are talking of here, lives not for himself. Possibly he has his weaknesses and his pleasures, and to an extent ministers in the essentials to his own comforts and habits. But, after all, for whom and for what does he live, struggle and contrive, deny and save? To the end that his children shall be better, abler, happier and more richly endowed of gifts and goods than he and his wife. There is no discounting or undervaluing the mother's part and lot. But is there not a tendency to award scant meed of praise to dad?—Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.

MADE THE FIRST PERISCOPE

Preacher Is Credited With Invention Which Has Given the Submarines Its Dreaded Power.

The origin of the periscope is now under discussion, and the following extract from the writings of the well-known inventor of "Pepper's Ghost" gives the credit to the clerical profession.

Pepper wrote soon after the Crimean war: "During the siege of Sebastopol numbers of our best artillerymen were continually picked off by the enemy's rifles as well as by cannon shot, and in order to put a stop to the foolhardiness and incautiousness of the men a very ingenious contrivance was invented by Rev. William Taylor, the coadjutor of Mr. Denison in constructing the first 'Big Ben' bell. "It was called the reflecting spy-glass, and by its simple construction rendered the exposure of the sailors and soldiers, who would look over the parapets or other parts of the works to observe the effect of their shot, perfectly unnecessary; while another form was constructed for the purpose of allowing the gunner to 'lay' or aim his gun in safety.

"The instruments were shown to Lord Panmure, who was so convinced of the importance of the invention that he immediately commissioned Rev. William Taylor to have a number of these telescopes constructed."

Photographing Machinery.

One of the tasks which occasionally fall to the lot of the amateur photographer is to take some piece of machinery as it stands in the works, often with a hack ground of other machines, belting, etc., with which it is easily confused. As it is usual to block out machines on the negative, so that they print out on a plain white background, this does not matter very much; but the blocking out is made much easier if the machine is given some kind of a background against which it can be seen, so that there is no doubt which is the machine in question and which is not. A few newspapers pinned together will be found quite sufficient for this purpose, and a few more spread on the floor will be very helpful by reflecting light up on to the undersurfaces of the different parts, which otherwise would be likely to come out much too dark.

Well Put.

A man who kept a roadhouse in Rhode Island was called upon to testify in a suit as to the number of cubic yards handled in some rock removing and filling in of lots in the vicinity.

Naturally enough he showed very little knowledge of the matter, his idea of a cubic yard being so indefinite that it was suspected he hardly comprehended the term. In order to facilitate his understanding the judge said:

"Listen, witness! Assume this inkstand to be three feet across the top this way and three feet that way and three feet in height, what should you call it?"

"Well, your honor," said the witness without hesitation, "I should say it was SOME inkstand."

His Philanthropy.

"Look here," said the benevolent-looking man, "you have asked me for work every time I passed this corner for the last three weeks."

"Have I?" was the surprised inquiry.

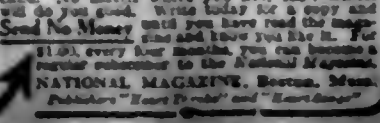

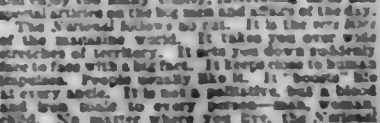

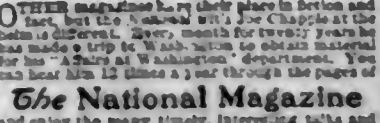

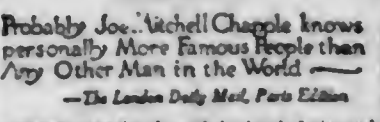

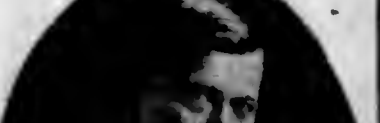

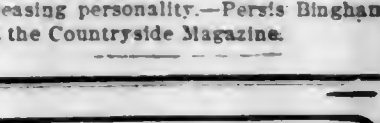

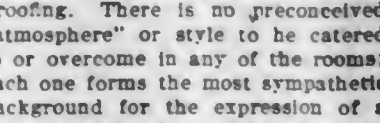

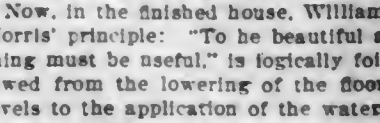

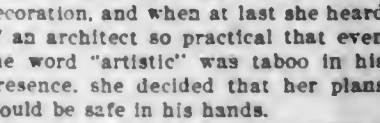

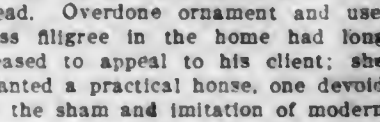

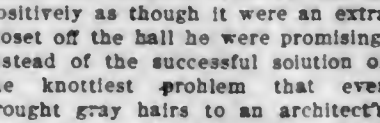

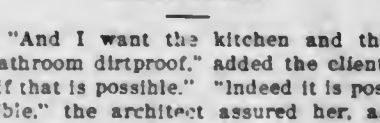

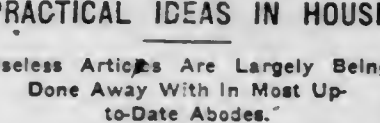

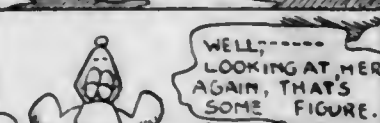

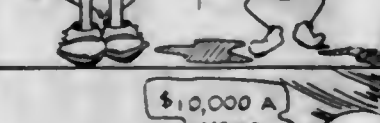

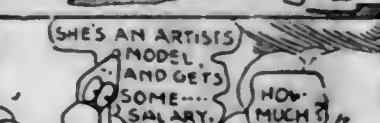

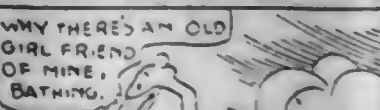

"Yes, you have, and I have given you money once or twice. Now, what would you do if I offered you work?"

"What would I do? I'd take your name and address, guv'nor, an' then, if I found anybody that wanted work, I'd send 'im round 'er yer. I'm a philanthropist, an' run a free employment agency. I don't get a penny for me time—only just what comes in accidental like from folks like you."

FARMS GIVE BEST RECRUITS

Navy Department Finds That Country Boys From Middle West Get to the Front the Quickest.

"The best type of men in the United States navy come from the farm or the village," said Monte C. McLaren of the Milwaukee naval recruiting station. "The rawest kind of a country boy will make the best kind of material when properly handled. He is willing to accept the commands of a superior officer."

"The navy department wants lads from the country," he said. "The navy is not particularly a calling for the sailor, but it is a place for a man who will take his place in the working out of a great system. The whole navy proposition is handled upon a very strict system plan, and it is found that it is the boy who is the 'gawk' that gets to the front in the end. The fellow from New York knows it all, while the farm boy admits that he doesn't but he is willing to learn."

"Captains are continually seeking men from the United States naval training station at Great Lakes, Ill., and most of those at this station come from the middle West."

BABE IS ADOPTED BY GOAT

Animal Walks Into Kitchen Each Morning and Waits Until Infant Is Brought Out to Breakfast.

Ida Lockwood, three months old, whose mother died a few weeks ago, owes her life to a pet goat. The baby girl was taken to Rahway, N. J., from New York immediately after the mother's death, and placed in charge of an aunt. The aunt procured a goat and taught the infant to nurse from the animal in the natural way.

The child at that time weighed but five pounds and showed indications of tuberculosis. Now, after nearly three months, the child weighs 12½ pounds and is pronounced exceptionally bright and active.

In the morning, as soon as the members of the household arise, the goat walks into the kitchen and waits until the baby is brought out to "breakfast."

TITLE PREVENTS "EDUCATION"

"Shooting craps" in the presence of a judge, even at the request of the judge, did not appeal to a janitor reputed to be one of the most proficient "shooters" in the avenue.

The court had become confidential to a friend, and asked what really constituted "shooting craps." The friend explained, but said he could supply better evidence of the little details in the game if the judge would come again when the janitor was about.

A few days later, when the judge was with the friend they saw the janitor. But neither the appeals of the friend nor those of the court would move the colored man, who was as good a politician as he was a "crap shooter," and he did not wish to let anybody get the "goods" on him, even for a demonstration.

GOOD OLD-FASHIONED DISH

Colorado Authority Tells of Preparation Long in Use Among the "Pennsylvania Dutch."

Since the season for farm butchering is at hand I am reminded of an old-fashioned recipe for "Pon Hauso" which has long been used among the "Pennsylvania Dutch." It is as follows:

"All meat not used for sausage, hams, shoulders and side meat should be reserved to be used for 'pudding meat.' This includes the head, with tongue, heart, liver, and all clean skins after the lard has been stripped from them. To all this add water and cook slowly until very well done, so bones will easily separate from the meat. Chop the largest pieces of meat, add water and thicken with cornmeal and buckwheat flour, about half as much buckwheat as cornmeal. Cook slowly, being careful that the mixture does not stick. When about done add salt, pepper and sage to taste, pour into dripping pans; when cold slice it as cold meat or fry it like mush.—Miriam M. Haynes, Colorado Agricultural College, Fort Collins, Colo.

Brush to Butter Pan.

A small paint brush (thoroughly scalded before using) will be found very handy in buttering cake or pie tins, as it will easily reach the corners. The brush may be kept in the shortening or lard pail and thus be always ready for use.

NO WONDER.

"That story about me was deliberately cooked up."
"Then I don't blame you for getting in a stew."

GOLF FOOT IS LATEST ILL

Doctor Tries to Take Joy Out of Life by Discovering New Ailment Due to Popular Sport.

Somebody's always willing to dig and find out something about that which one likes most. For instance, there are those who discourage ice cream, beer, highballs, cocktails, etc. But up to the time of the current issue of the Medical Record there were few who discouraged any particular line of sport beyond, perhaps, mentioning that a person might overtrain. One needs a brand new breath to tell this.

After millions of men and women have advocated golf as the healthiest of exercises, despite the fact that it may encourage a bit of fibbing now and again, along comes a doctor and declares that he has discovered the golf foot. The whole sum and substance of "golfer's foot" is that in driving or making some shots properly, one may get too much weight on the toes of the left foot. Players of this class, says the doctor, are very likely to develop a large callus on the inner side of the great toe about opposite to the bed of the nail. The doctor recommends that the best of care be taken of one's feet.

THESE MEN SAW SOME SNAKE

Declare They Encountered 20-Foot Reptile in Pennsylvania Field—Shots Failed to Stop It.

Frank Johnson and John Breese, living at Somerton, Pa., are authority for the statement that a snake between fifteen and twenty feet long is at large in that vicinity. They declare it is evidently an anaconda.

The two men were walking across a field near the Forest Hill cemetery, and, according to their statement, the snake glided from a pile of rocks, moved swiftly across an open field, and disappeared at the opening of an old sewer. Breese emptied the contents of a high-caliber revolver at the reptile, but the snake kept going. The men are unqualified in the assertion that the reptile was about twenty feet long.

Several years ago, when a circus train was sidetracked near Somerton, a report was current that a number of large snakes had escaped from their cages, and this story has been revived.

BULLDOG WAS ACQUITTED.

Mrs. Joseph Woods of Redondo Beach, was plaintiff in a case against J. F. Murray. Mrs. Woods' grievance was not against Mr. Murray particularly, except that he kept a bulldog named "General," who tried to chew up her little fox terrier.

Those who testified at the trial included the butcher boy, the baker and the grocery man, who said that so far as they knew "General" was a gentle old bulldog. Several neighbors also put in a good word for the "defendant."

Mr. Murray, who has owned the dog for eight years, said that he never roamed around and was always tied up at night. On May 1 "Rags," the little fox terrier, ran up to the back-yard fence where "General" was sleeping and reached through the fence and bit him on the nose. The next day the bulldog met "Rags" and shook him.

The jury found "General" not guilty.—Los Angeles Times.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH NO. 117.

Hopkinsville's New Mayor, Who Won By a Majority of More Than 300.

ROBERT T. STOWE, SR.

Hopkinsville's fifth Mayor, Robert T. Stowe, received his certificate of election yesterday and immediately executed the required bond of $10,000 and took the oath of office as the successor of Mayor Frank K. Yost, who resigned August 1st. Since that time Commissioner Frank H. Bassett, the mayor pro tem., had been acting mayor. The office of mayor was created by the new constitution in 1893, and the first mayor was appointed by the council Sept. 1, 1893. Frank W. Dabney, being a councilman at that time, was elected by a vote of 4 to 3 over W. J. Withers, who had been chairman of the former board of trustees, and was the only announced candidate for the new office of mayor. Mr. Dabney was reappointed in 1897 and served eight years and four months, to Jan. 1, 1902. He was succeeded by Col. Jettett Henry, who served from Jan. 2, 1902, to Jan. 1, 1906, four years. He was succeeded by Chas. M. Meacham for two terms, from Jan. 1, 1906 to Jan. 5, 1914, a few days more than eight years. Frank K. Yost was appointed for a four years' term, but resigned after holding the office two years and seven months. Mayor Stowe will serve for a little less than fourteen months. He is the first mayor to be elected by the people. The salary of the office was $300 until 1910, when it was increased to $600, the mayor not being required to give all of his time to the office. The new charter permits the mayor to be elected in 1917 to draw a salary not more than $1800, to be fixed by the commission. This has not been done for the present unexpired term and the salary paid Mayor Yost was only $600. Some lawyers hold that new duties may be imposed upon Mayor Stowe and that he can be legally paid for his full time, which it is understood he is willing to give to the city.

Robert T. Stowe was born Nov. 12, 1862, and will celebrate his 54th birthday to-morrow. He was born on a farm near Julian, one of a family of six brothers, all staunch Democrats. His early life was spent on a farm. About ten years ago he moved to the city and in 1909 was the nominee of the Democratic party for County Court Clerk and in the election received 4107 votes to 3703 cast for his Republican opponent, one of the most widely known and popular leaders of his party in the county, the present Commissioner of Finance, W. R. Wicks, at that time deputy clerk. It may be said in passing that Mr. Wicks was a supporter of Mayor Stowe in the present race, because he realized his merit as a public officer, after serving as his deputy for several months. Mr. Stowe was defeated for renomination by a very narrow margin in 1913, and following his retirement from office engaged in the drug business with his son for two years. This business was sold last year, since which time Mr. Stowe has not been in active business. He is therefore in position to give his entire time to the duties of the office to which has been elected. In the primary election Oct. 21, in a field of five he beat all with 500 votes of the 1500 cast. In the recent election, running against another very popular candidate of the same political faith, former councilman R. M. Wooldridge, he received 1136 votes to 828 cast for his opponent. He was strong not only in the Democratic precincts but also in the Republican strongholds, where nearly all of the votes are colored. Mayor Stowe has reason to feel justly proud of his splendid victory. He enters upon his duties the choice of the people of all parties and with the confidence of the people of the city in his ability to make Greater Hopkinsville a wide-awake and progressive executive.

Mayor Stowe's family consists of his wife and daughter, Miss Kathleen Stowe. His only son, Robert T. Stowe, Jr., is the well-known young druggist. His son is married. Mayor Stowe by virtue of his office becomes Commissioner of Executive Affairs, of Public Health and head of the Board of Park Commissioners.

They Were Feeling Good.

Bubbling over with joy when the Hughes triumph of Tuesday night was turned into a Wilson landslide in the West Wednesday night, 200 or more howling Democrats armed with cowbells paraded the city at 10 o'clock. They first marched through the picture shows creating a brief and noisy bedlam and then paraded all over town. They went to the residence of V. L. Williamson, who had gone to bed, and forced him to get up and make a speech. The popular Republican leader made a fine speech on the glories of the autumn weather and the blessings of life in Hopkinsville, never once mentioning politics. They next carried some fresh dirt from the Methodist church to the L. & N. depot and raised a neat little mound and raised a head stone for Jim Cliborne, the police sergeant, who forgot that he was a non-partisan and expressed himself for Hughes. Jim also took it good naturedly and promised to come to life and carry a torch.

All day Thursday the crowds hung about the Postal Telegraph office, where Bruce Grubbs was catching bulletins, and as the news got better the celebration was repeated Thursday night with some added features. A negro orchestra was hired to play "Dixie," "Tipperary" and other solemn airs while Joe Moseley, Bill Hancock and others who were feeling good put on some graceful dances on the sidewalk. Conspicuous in this jubilation was the "Beat My Dad" Club, made up of ten or a dozen youngsters whose fathers voted for Hughes.

Sudden Stroke.
